H1N1 Flu

Student Health Center Preparations and Information

University of North Carolina at Charlotte

Many groups on campus have indicated an interest in receiving more information about the H1N1 flu (aka "Swine Flu"). The Student Health Center clinical staff and the Wellness Promotion staff have developed a presentation about the H1N1 virus that we would like to offer on Wednesday evenings in October to any individuals or groups who are interested.

We will discuss basic information about the H1N1 virus, prevention strategies, and what to do if you get sick. We will also talk about the preparations for the virus that are happening at the Student Health Center, H1N1 and seasonal flu vaccines, and the flu-care kits that will be available soon.

The programs will be presented in the Wellness Promotion Department classroom at the Student Health Center. Dates and times for these presentations are as follows:

Wednesday, October 7, 6:00-7:00 pm

Wednesday, October 14, 6:00-7:00 pm

Wednesday, October 21, 6:00-7:00 pm

Wednesday, October 28, 6:00-7:00 pm

RSVP if you plan to attend
